LIABILITY LITIGATION :

DECLARATION OF PHILIP J. MILLER IN SUPPORT OF PLAINTIFFS' MOTION TO EXTEND THE TIME TO AMEND THE PLEADINGS IN THIS MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

PHILIP J. MILLER, ESQ., of full age, hereby declares as follows:

1. I am an attorney duly admitted to practice before this Court and am one of the attorneys representing plaintiffs in this multidistrict litigation ("MDL"). I make the statements contained in this Declaration based on my own knowledge, the records maintained by Osborn Law, P.C., and discussions with other counsel for plaintiffs at Osborn Law, P.C. and/or Valad & Vecchione, PLLC.

2. I submit this declaration in support of plaintiffs' motion to extend the time to amend the pleadings from August 20, 2010, to October 20, 2010.

3. To date, the majority of plaintiff's with claims in this MDL are represented by Osborn Law, P.C. or Valad & Vecchione, PLLC. The plaintiffs represented by these two firms make this motion on behalf of all plaintiffs in this MDL.

4. The additional time sought by plaintiffs is necessary to enable plaintiffs to continue their product identification efforts in these cases, i.e., their efforts to identify one or more manufacturers responsible for the pamidronate (discussed below) given to each plaintiff.

At this time, plaintiffs do not anticipate amending the complaints to add or dismiss causes of action. Instead, plaintiffs anticipate amending the complaints to dismiss claims brought by certain plaintiffs or to amend the claims to identify specific manufacturers where possible.

5. As the Court knows, plaintiffs in this MDL allege that they developed osteonecrosis of the jaw as a result of being treated with pamidronate, a bisphosphonate drug typically prescribed in conjunction with cancer treatments.

6. Until approximately May, 2001, pamidronate was only available under the brand name Aredia, manufactured and sold by Novartis Pharmaceuticals Corporation.

7. After May, 2001, pamidronate could be manufactured and sold as a generic drug. At different times after May, 2001, and for different lengths of time, each of the defendants in this MDL did manufacture and sell generic pamidronate.

8. As far as plaintiffs know, there is no difference between the brand name Aredia manufactured and sold by Novartis and any of the generic pamidronate manufactured and sold by defendants in this MDL.

9. Pamidronate is given to patients intravenously. Patients, including plaintiffs in this MDL, do not obtain this drug from a pharmacy. Moreover, patients, including plaintiffs in this MDL, do not typically receive any written materials identifying the manufacturer of the drug with which they are treated.

10. Because of the nature of the drug (a generic drug with no distinguishing characteristics from manufacturer to manufacturer) and how the drug was administered (intravenously at a cancer or infusion center), plaintiffs rarely have manufacturer information and it is difficult to obtain this information.

11. Since before this litigation commenced, most, if not all, of the plaintiffs with claims in this MDL have been attempting to identify the specific manufacturer or manufacturers of the drug they received.

12. Product identification efforts have continued during this MDL. Plaintiffs have requested and/or subpoenaed their medical records from their oncologists and/or infusion centers. Plaintiffs also have requested and/or subpoenaed records from their insurers.

13. It appears that for all of the defendant manufacturers in this MDL, sales were made to wholesalers, who in turn sold to doctors and infusion centers. As a result, plaintiffs asked for, and were given permission, to serve interrogatories (two altogether) asking the manufacturers to identify the wholesalers to whom they sold their pamidronate.

14. On or about July 8, 2010, each of the five manufacturer defendants responded to the two interrogatories. Each defendant included a list with its interrogatory responses purportedly identifying its wholesalers. Based on comments made at one or more of the Court conferences in this MDL, and in conversations among counsel, plaintiffs believed the lists of wholesalers would identify a fairly limited number of entities, i.e., between ten and twenty wholesalers.

15. Surprisingly, the five lists of “wholesalers” provided by the various defendants included more than 6,800 entries in total and individual businesses were often identified numerous times, presumably for each sale of pamidronate made to that entity. (See Exhibit A for an example of the types of entries included on defendants’ lists of wholesalers. We have redacted the document to protect confidentiality.) After many hours spent reviewing these lists and editing out duplicative names of businesses, plaintiffs still had more than two hundred and forty entities to consider. Upon further review, it became apparent that defendants did not simply list their wholesalers, but also included affiliates, subsidiaries and/or distribution centers of individual wholesalers. Accordingly, plaintiffs have had to spend a great deal of additional time and energy paring down these lists to actual wholesalers in order to prepare proper subpoenas. At this time, plaintiffs are in the process of serving subpoenas on the appropriate wholesalers.

16. Plaintiffs remain convinced that the wholesalers can provide valuable information which will be helpful in plaintiffs' product identification efforts in these case. (See Exhibit B for an example of the type of information one plaintiff received from a wholesaler in a case presently pending in another jurisdiction. The NDC number listed in the document identifies a specific manufacturer's pamidronate.)

17. Osborn Law filed claims in this MDL on behalf of 159 plaintiffs. To date, as a result of our product identification efforts, we have determined that the claims asserted by 30 plaintiffs will be dismissed (their cases against Novartis in a separate MDL will continue). In addition, we have been able to identify a specific manufacturer(s) for 17 other plaintiffs, allowing us to dismiss claims against the other defendants in those instances.

18. Valad & Vecchione filed claims in this MDL on behalf of 16 plaintiffs. To date, as a result of their product identification efforts, they have been able to identify a specific manufacturer(s) for 6 plaintiffs, allowing them to dismiss claims against the other defendants in those instances. Further, Valad & Vecchione Plaintiffs are moving to sever their claims so as to make amendment of each claim administratively easier.

19. Plaintiffs seek additional time to amend the pleadings so that they can continue their product identification efforts. Defendants will not be prejudiced if this motion is granted.

20. Counsel for plaintiffs asked counsel for defendants if defendants would consent to the motion. Defendants said they would consent but only on conditions unacceptable to plaintiffs.

I hereby certify that the foregoing statements made by me are true. I am aware that if any of the foregoing statements made by me are willfully false, I am subject to punishment.

Dated: August 19, 2010
